Introduction

Background and Objectives

This report presents the findings of a survey carried out by the MORI Local Government Research Unit for Lancashire County Council. The document reports on the latest views of Lancashire residents about Lancashire County Council, the services it provides and quality of life in the county. It also examines how views have changed since 2000, when the baseline Lancashire County Council residents' survey was conducted by MORI.

More specifically, this representative survey of Lancashire residents is intended to provide robust information on residents' attitudes towards living in Lancashire which can be used for comparisons with the 2000 baseline survey, as well as on-going monitoring. Topics covered include:

- satisfaction with the local area as a place to live;
- quality of life;
- social cohesion;
- usage of, and satisfaction with, local services;
- local transport; and
- corporate priorities.

Methodology

MORI carried out 2,447 interviews with Lancashire residents (aged 18+) in 192 randomly selected enumeration districts (EDs) across the County. Within each ED, quotas were set using 2001 Census data to reflect the population profile of that neighbourhood.

The data are weighted by sex, age, working status, ethnicity and area.

All interviews were carried out face-to-face in respondents' homes between 15 September and 9 December 2003.

Presentation and Interpretation of Data

It should be remembered at all times that a sample and not the entire population of Lancashire residents has been interviewed. In consequence, all results are subject to sampling tolerances, which means that not all differences are statistically significant.

Where percentages do not sum to 100, this may be due to computer rounding, the exclusion of "don't know" categories, or multiple answers. Throughout the volume an asterisk (*) denotes any value of less than half a per cent.

In the computer tables, reference is made to "net" figures. This represents the balance of opinion on attitudinal questions, and provides a particularly useful means of comparing the results for a number of variables. In the case of a "net satisfaction" figure, this represents the percentage satisfied on a particular issue or service, less the percentage dissatisfied. For example, if a service records 40% satisfied and 25% dissatisfied, the "net satisfaction" figure is +15 points.

For some questions the district level data only has a small base size so any differences may not be statistically significant. This means that the service questions, which require users, have not been compared by district since the base would be too small. Statistics for the district are presented with those of Lancashire overall where possible.

Understanding the Profile of Lancashire

This report makes reference to how people's views differ across the various areas of the County. When making these comparisons it is important to bear in mind the profile of the population being considered. Some significant demographic differences between districts are highlighted in the table below.

Comparison with Baseline Survey

The report also makes frequent comparisons between the results of the 2003 study and the baseline study conducted in 2000 to point out what has changed or what has stayed the same.

Comparisons with Other Authorities

Where appropriate, the report includes comparisons between Lancashire's results and those of other authorities (taken from the MORI Local Government database). These findings are intended to provide context to the results; they should not be seen as 'league tables'. The data is MORI copyright and should not be released to a third party without MORI's written approval.

Publication of the Data

As with all our studies, findings from this survey are subject to our standard Terms and Conditions of Contract. Any press release or publication of the findings of this survey requires the advance approval of MORI. Such approval will only be refused on the grounds of inaccuracy or misrepresentation.

Satisfaction in Lancashire

The majority of residents report that they are happy to be living in Lancashire. Overall, almost nine in ten (88%) are satisfied with Lancashire as a place to live, including almost two in five who are very satisfied (41%).

Positive Aspects of Life in Lancashire

Lancashire residents give a variety of reasons why they are happy to be living in the area. Very few (3%) say that there are 'no good things' about the area.

Residents across the County are most likely to emphasise peace and quiet, friendly people, openness/greenery and convenience for shops as positive aspects of their area. Important changes since 2000 are that those mentioning convenience for shops as a positive aspect of the area has decreased by 11% and those citing adequate transport had decreased by 3%. On the positive side, those reporting that access to countryside has increased by 4% and percentages of those citing friendly people, openness and countryside and good education have all stayed the same since 2000.

Q Which three or four things, if any, would you say are good things about living in this area?

Base: All respondents; Lancashire (2,447), Ribble Valley (117)

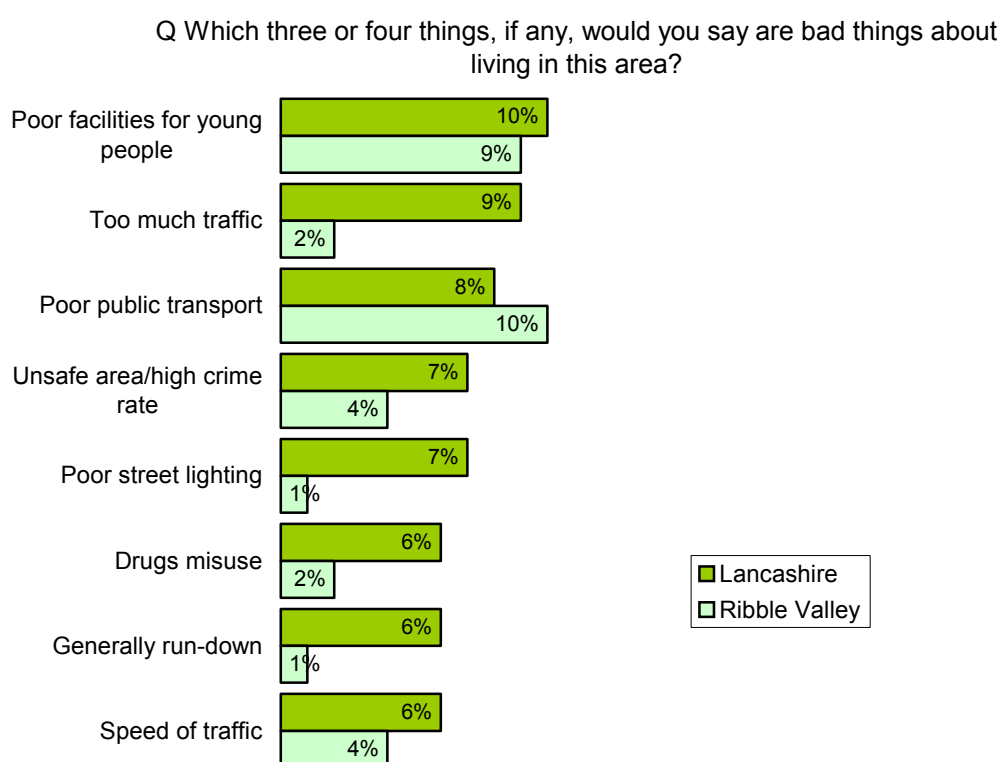

Source: MORI

Openness and countryside (52%) are seen as particularly good things in Ribble Valley, with residents more than twice as likely to mention them as in Lancashire overall.

Negative Aspects of Life in Lancashire

No single aspect stands out across the county as the one particularly negative factor. Indeed, almost one in four (24%) of residents say that there are 'no bad things' about living in the area and in 2003, Lancashire residents cite fewer negative aspects of life in Lancashire than in 2000.

The most frequently mentioned negative aspects overall are poor facilities for young people (10%), volume of traffic (9%), poor public transport (8%), unclean streets and high crime rate. This is largely similar to the 2000 baseline survey, however poor facilities for young people and high crime rates were not key negative aspects in the 2000 survey.

Base: All respondents; Lancashire (2,447), Ribble Valley (117)

Source: MORI

Poor public transport (10%) and poor facilities for young people (9%) are the most mentioned bad things by Ribble Valley residents.

Improving Quality of Life

Quality of Life: Broad Themes in Lancashire

When residents are asked what factors would improve quality of life, there is heavy emphasis on curbing anti-social behaviour and crime. Reducing traffic and transport problems is also cited by one in four (25%) residents. Ribble Valley residents are twice as likely to mention provide affordable housing (27%) as the Lancashire population overall.

Although quality of life data is not directly comparable with the baseline survey, due to a change in question wording, findings indicate some changes since 2000. As this time, although improving youth services and reducing crime were also high priorities, better road and pavement maintenance and safer roads were deemed to be more important than reducing traffic and drug abuse problems.

Q Thinking now about your quality of life, which two or three of the following things, if any, are the most important to improve your own quality of life?

Base: All respondents; Lancashire (2,447), Ribble Valley (117)

Source: MORI

In Ribble Valley, providing activities for young people (34%) is the most mentioned priority. Twice the proportion of people give provide more affordable housing (27%) as in Lancashire overall.

Key Quality of Life Themes: Crime and Disorder in Lancashire

When presented with a list of possible ways in which to reduce crime and disorder, the most commonly cited action is to provide a more visible police presence (71%). Other key perceived important aspects are providing more things for youngsters to do (42%) and tackling the drugs problem (35%). This suggests that Lancashire residents associate youngsters having insufficient leisure activities with illegal drug-taking and crime and disorder problems in their area.

Q In your opinion, which two or three, if any, of the following should Lancashire County Council do in order to reduce crime and disorder?

Base: All respondents giving "reduce crime and disorder" as a key priority; Lancashire (985), Ribble Valley (32*)
 Source: MORI
 * Note small base

A more visible police presence, (83%), is seen as particularly important for Ribble Valley, with an even stronger opinion than the county as a whole.

Key Quality of Life Themes: Activities for Young People in Lancashire

When asked what the County Council should do to provide activities for young people, the most commonly cited actions are to provide more youth centres for meeting people of their own age (66%) and more leisure centres (60%).

Q In your opinion, which two or three, if any, of the following should Lancashire County Council do in order to provide activities for young people?

Base: All respondents giving "provide activities for young people" as a key priority; Lancashire (771), Ribble Valley (40*)

Key Quality of Life Themes: Traffic and Transport in Lancashire

In terms of transport priorities, residents are most likely to want the County Council to prioritise improving existing roads, street lighting and bridges (37%) and least likely to favour building new roads (12%). A third (33%) of residents would like public transport to be prioritised for improvement, and a quarter (25%) would like to see improvements to pedestrian facilities. Road safety is also a salient issue, with around one in four (23%) residents mentioning improving road safety and providing safe routes to schools.

Q In your opinion, which two or three local transport issues do you think should be the main priorities for Lancashire County Council?

Base: All respondents; Lancashire (2,447), Ribble Valley (117)
Source: MORI

Transport priorities for Ribble Valley follow those for the whole county. The top two priorities are improving existing roads, street lighting and bridges (34%) and improving public transport (35%).

Key Quality of Life Themes: Illegal Drug-Taking in Lancashire

The most frequently mentioned course of action for curbing illegal drug-taking is the introduction of stricter punishments for illegal drug dealers (62%). Other important actions are seen to be stricter punishment for users (42%), drug awareness education in schools (34%) and the better facilities for young people generally (29%).

Q In your opinion, which two or three, if any, of the following should Lancashire County Council do in order to reduce illegal drug-taking?

County Council Services

Importance of services in Lancashire

Residents consider the most important County Council services to be services for older people (37%), facilities for young people (28%) and road/pavement maintenance (28%). This is entirely consistent with services considered most important in 2000. The only significant change in importance attributed to services since 2000 is for secondary schools and primary schools, with residents now more likely to say that they are among the most important services.

Q Which three or four of the services on the list do you think are most important for people in this area?

Base: All respondents; Lancashire (2,447), Ribble Valley (117) Source: MORI

The top three important services in Ribble Valley are services for older people (42%), secondary schools (29%) and primary schools (26%).

Satisfaction with Services

Universal services in Lancashire

Satisfaction with most universal services – and all services related to roads and traffic – has improved since 2000.

Residents remain most satisfied with street lighting, with more than three-quarters (77%) of residents saying that they are at least ‘fairly satisfied’.

In contrast, there is greatest dissatisfaction with road maintenance (41% dissatisfied) pavement maintenance (39%) and traffic calming measures (38%). This is not unusual in our experience. However, residents are now less dissatisfied with all of these services than in 2000.

Other improvements in net satisfaction since 2000 are for road safety, the local road system and traffic management.

Q How satisfied or dissatisfied are you with the way each of these services is provided in your local area?

Other services in Lancashire

Among service users, there is highest overall satisfaction with libraries (94%), and registration of births, deaths and marriages (89%). Most impressively, the County's primary schools and pre-school facilities are particularly well regarded, with nine out of ten users (90%) at least 'fairly satisfied' with each. This shows a significant increase in satisfaction with pre-school facilities since 2000. Adult education (86%) and museums (87%) and tourism services (86%) are also rated highly by those who use them.

Other services recording high satisfaction levels include household waste disposal sites (86%) and recycling facilities (88%). Indeed, satisfaction with recycling facilities has improved since 2000, as has usage of this service.

Although facilities for young people remain among the lowest rated services in Lancashire, a significant improvement in users' satisfaction with this service (+13 points) deserves recognition.

Other services that are rated somewhat higher than in 2000 are planning services (+19 points), cycle facilities (+11 points) and bus services (+6 points). However, there has been a significant decrease in net satisfaction with welfare rights (-15 points) and services for older people (-13 points).

Thinking about all the services provided by Lancashire County Council, the majority of residents (50%) think that these services have stayed about the same over the past two years. However, more residents think that the services have got better than think that they have got worse (25% vs 11%).

Service Improvement Priorities

The chart below plots satisfaction with services against the importance given to that service area by residents. The further to the right a service is, the more important it is to residents, and the further up, the higher the net level of satisfaction with the service. Services to focus on are in the bottom right hand quadrant; they are seen as important, but are poorly rated.

The services that are priorities for improvement are: services for older people, maintenance of roads and pavements and facilities for young people. These are of high importance but are given low satisfaction ratings.

Service Usage

The most significant shift in County Council service usage since 2000 is for recycling facilities, which are now used by nearly two-thirds of Lancashire residents (64%). Despite this increase, household waste disposal sites remain widely used (62%). There has been a slight fall in the number of residents using library services since 2000, however libraries are still used by three in five (61%) residents.

Social Services

Introduction

This section looks at satisfaction with Social Services in Lancashire. Satisfaction figures are based on user perceptions of each of the service areas, unless otherwise stated. Services for people with mental health problems, for people with learning difficulties, for vulnerable children and families and for young offenders all have a small number of users. To this extent satisfaction scores must be interpreted with caution.

Overview for Lancashire

Satisfaction with Lancashire's services for disabled people (68%) is high, as is satisfaction with services for people with learning difficulties (69%) and services for older people (68%). Of all social services, satisfaction with services for young offenders is lowest, having dropped somewhat (-31%) since the 2000 baseline survey.

Q How satisfied or dissatisfied are you with the way each of these services is provided in your local area?

Base: All users (21-219)
Source: MORI

Overall, users are more likely to say that social services have improved (26%) than got worse (19%) over the past few years. This shows a marked improvement since 2000, when only 15% residents said that social services had improved overall.

Education Services

Introduction

This section looks at satisfaction with education services in Lancashire. Satisfaction figures are based on user perceptions of each of the service areas, unless otherwise stated. Youth services have a small number of users, so satisfaction scores must be interpreted with caution.

Overview for Lancashire

Although there has been a slight fall in satisfaction with secondary schools since 2000, primary education (90%), nursery education (90%), adult education (86%) and secondary schools (81%) are particularly well regarded among users in Lancashire, and receive higher satisfaction ratings than those in many other similar authorities.
